The other sea lion is on the right, facing the first. Both have dark brown, textured fur. They appear to be in a rocky or stone enclosure, possibly a zoo. The background is blurred.

A black and white photograph capturing the dynamic movement of ocean waves. In the foreground, a wave is shown in mid-break, with white spray and foam at its crest. Behind it, several more waves roll towards the shore, their forms slightly blurred by motion. The water has a textured, grainy appearance.
